

PINES PROCEDURE: MONEY OWED BETWEEN LIBRARIES

PINES patrons may pay their bills at any library (unless the patron has been referred to a collections agency), but payments received that are related to Lost, Long Overdue, and Damaged Materials that belong to another library must be remitted to the owning library.

Procedure for Sending Money to Other Libraries

1. Identify Payments

Run both of the following PINES Quick Reports. Select your library in both library dropdown selection lists when running each report. (If your system exchanges funds between branches, then you should run the reports individually for each branch. If your system is only concerned about money owed between systems, then select all the branches in the system in both of the dropdown selection lists.)

Tracking Money Owed to Your Library by Other Libraries

If you wish to track outstanding reimbursements owed to your library by other libraries, you may use the following PINES Quick Reports:

Quick Report Templates > Bills > Patron Accounts with Payments Owed to My Library by Others (Circulation)

Quick Report Templates > Bills > Patron Accounts with Payments Owed to My Library by Others (Grocery) (Note: This report will be very short, and sometimes empty.)

If another library has not sent reimbursements on payments accepted for your lost, long overdue, and damaged items to you within a reasonable time frame, first contact that library directly to attempt to resolve the issues. Current policy requires that reimbursements be sent on at least a quarterly basis. Recurring problems should be reported by the library system's Director to the PINES Executive Committee.
